The day has brought the same brand of weather that has been enjoyed by north eastern Nebraska for more than a week. It is true that it hasn't rained, it is true that the sun has made several successful efforts to shine, but nevertheless it has been the larger part of the time cloudy and threatening, with every indication that Jupiter Pluvius was planning to deluge the earth again. What is needed now more than anything else, is a spell of clear sunny weather with a temperature that shall be warm enough to make vegetation hustle. The outlook at this time is flattering for abundant crops in this section if the cold weather is soon supplanted by warmer, and there is every reason to anticipate it.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The Conservatory of Music Gives a Delightful Program at the Methodist Church Last Evening.

Frontalday's Daily.

The Methodist church was crowded last evening with an audience which listened in wrapt attention and undisguised pleasure and gratification to the pupils of Mrs. Cora A. Beels at the third annual commencement of the Norfolk branch of the Western Conservatory of Music. The program was executed in every part with an excellence and spirit which speaks volumes for the ability of the teacher and the energy and application of those who have so fortunately had such instruction. Prof. E. H. The weekly weather and crop report, ending this morning, from this and neighboring counties, is as follows: "Dixon—Pastures and grain good, too cool for corn, some replanted. Madison—Too cold for corn, but little up, small grain doing well, sunshine needed, too wet to plant corn. Pierce—Small grain outlook splendid, corn planting delayed by wet. Stanton—Small grain doing nicely but weather has interfered somewhat with corn planting and work in beet fields. Wayne—Cold and rain retarded corn planting, oats and grass nice.

The sample sale being held by the Presbyterian ladies will continue several days. Owing to the very unpropitious weather which has prevailed the larger part of the time the past week the goods have not been disposed of as rapidly as was anticipated. Many of the ladies have not been able to get in from the country. Nevertheless the sales yesterday reached $30 and will probably exceed that figure today. Everybody should visit this unique exposition of varied wares. They will find samples of groceries and other necessary articles for sale at a lower figure than they are usually purchased. Next door east of the postoffice. Open this evening and all day tomorrow.

The Omaha Trade Exhibit thus exposes some of the true inwardness of the announcements of the Greater America exposition: "The title that has been conferred upon the proposed exposition for the coming summer, the Greater America, is an intimation that the promoters are apostles of expansion. Likewise the announcement that a major part of the display would include exhibitions from the new colonial dependencies of this country was in pursuance of this idea. But from some of the recent printed matter of the exposition we are led to deduce the conclusion that Uncle Sam has annexed some districts that are not popularly supposed to belong to him. We note that the renowned Indian Chief Red Cloud is to be a star attraction, and as this venerable old hair raiser passed to his eternal reward some time ago it is evident that if he attends the exposition he will have to come a long way—may we not say a h—l of a way?" There is just a heap of energy and ardor being manifested these days in discussing the expansion of the nation. Not only are men discussing the question but brave souls over at Manila are giving up their lives in loyalty and devotion to the flag. This is commendable and praiseworthy. But along with this love for "Greater America" which is so manifest, there is need for a more intense pride in local affairs. The citizen of Norfolk who is alive to the highest welfare of this community, will have a very deep, practical, active regard for everything which effects its prosperity. Cities and towns are but the outgrowth and reflection of the character of the people who live in them. There is not a place on the footstool which is of so much value or importance to Norfolk people as Norfolk itself. It behooves each one to do whatever lies in their power to make it the tidest, most business like, intelligent, progressive and best advertised city in northeastern Nebraska. Stand up for Norfolk!
